THE MAGAZINE OF PETERSFIELD CATHOLIC PARISH

Some personal reflections on the 60th anniversary of the Queen's Coronation

by Bishop Philip Egan

At the beginning of June, I went to Winchester Cathedral for an ecumenical service of celebration to mark the 60th anniversary of the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

It was a splendid occasion. The Bishop of Winchester, Tim Dakin, preached an uplifting sermon about the presence and guidance of God in our own lives and in our national history. I was delighted to be there to offer prayers of thanksgiving to God.

Last Christmas, I was particularly impressed by the inspiring Christmas Message the Queen gave the nation. She noted the celebrations of 2012, which included besides the Diamond Jubilee the Olympic Games and Paralympic Games, and how they had aroused and cultivated among the peoples of our land spontaneous friendships, goodwill, renewed determination, a sense of togetherness, generous volunteering and public-spiritedness. Despite things that sometimes are said to the contrary, these qualities to me are quintessentially British. They are human and social qualities that are visible during times of national anguish, such as during the war, but often lie beneath the surface in normal circumstances. Yet what to me was remarkable was how the Queen linked these qualities to their source and summation in the Christmas story. The Incarnation of Jesus Christ, God the Son, urges and strengthens us to commit ourselves ever more generously to the care of others, especially the needy, in imitation of Him, who came “not to be served but to serve and to give his life as a ransom for many” (Mark 10: 45). She ended the Message with a prayer based on the words of the Christmas carol ‘In the Bleak Mid-Winter’ that in response to the Love of God shown in the Crib, the only response we can give, “poor as I am,” is to “give Him my heart”.

Fr Hollins takes over as Chairman of PACT from Rosemary Davies and receives the PACT Bible. Report on next page.

This was a deeply Christian Message, and unashamedly so. As Christians, we can be immensely grateful to the Queen for her witness of faith. If the ‘togetherness’ of our society and the other values the Queen spoke about so eloquently in her Message, are to be maintained and developed, the Christian patrimony underlying those values must be fostered. The Diamond Jubilee of the Coronation surely inspires us all to pray for the Queen, that through the power of the Holy Spirit, she may continue to draw people’s attention to the core Christian beliefs and values that underpin our culture. Or as we prayed in Winchester in the National Anthem: “Thy choicest gifts in store, on her be pleased to pour; long may she reign”. Amen.

PACT Report

by Fr Hollins

Petersfield Area Churches Together (PACT) held the Annual General Meeting on 23rd January. Rosemary Davies reported on her year as chairman and then presented me with the 'PACT Bible' and I was elected PACT Chairman for this year. The names of past chairpersons are carefully inscribed on the first page of the Bible beginning with Rev Alan Cassingham in 1968 and including Mgr Cyril Murtagh (1986) and Fr Jeremy Garratt (2005). From being an 'observer', I now feel very much a part of Petersfield Area Churches Together.

This aspect of our parish involvement is really important. It is not an added extra for Christians. The Bishops at the Second Vatican Council considered working with other Christians as integral to a life of faith. 'Cooperation among Christians vividly expresses the relationship which in fact already unites them, and it sets in clearer relief the features of Christ the Servant. .... All believers in Christ can, through this cooperation, be led to acquire a better knowledge and appreciation of one another, and so pave the way to Christian unity'. (Decree on Ecumenism para 12)

In addition to the Good Friday Walk of Witness and other joint services, PACT sponsors the design of Christmas and Easter cards which are delivered to all the homes in the area. Each card has a special invitation to church services. At the moment PACT is pleased to support: the Town Chaplaincy, the Kings Arms, the Petersfield Foodbank, Holiday Club, Messy Church and the Christmas Lunch. But over the years PACT has been responsible for many initiatives that have now taken on a life of their own. Many generous people play a part in one or other of these 'Christian gifts' to the local community.

Liss News

by
Margaret Effenberg

Disappointment in January as the event at Liss Parish Hall had to be cancelled due to the snow and many people were unable to get to the event.

Thank you to all who volunteered to help at the supper and a special thanks to Father Hollins who drove to Liss, in case there were any parishioners who were not contacted about the cancellation of Mass at 6pm. Thanks also to parishioners who paid for their tickets but were happy to donate to The Knights of the Holy Sepulchre anyway.

Liss Churches Working Together
These continue at various venues and it is an excellent opportunity to meet with other Christians around the area.

For further information please call Justin Kelly on 01730 893082

Food Bank

Liss has set up its own food bank and it is a very worth while cause to contribute to. There is a basket at the back of St Agnes for all the various items that people wish to donate (please no perishable goods) that are needed for needy families in Liss.

Harvest Festival

The date has been set for 5th October and we would love to see as many people from the parish come and enjoy a few hours with other fellow parishioners and friends.

First Holy Communion

by Justine Jenner

Invariably there are two things that spring to mind when we remember a particular celebration: the people and the food! We may also reflect on gifts given and received, stories told, joys relived and sorrows shared. These form the body of our communion celebration with Jesus and His act of saving love at the very heart of it.

So, with these reflections in mind, Kirsty Thomas and I shared in the preparation of this year's 'intake' of children for First Holy Communion. Over the course of eight Sundays, 19 fantastic children met with us as we shared the Good News of the Gospel with them and they shared themselves, their likes and dislikes, news and opinions, unaudited thoughts and habits and youthful exuberance.

- L: 'Do you know that God spelt backwards makes 'dog'?'
- H: who loved the haroset fruit paste at our Passover meal and thought the communion wine tasted of runny honey
- G: who wept bitter tears at our Passover meal, not in remembrance of the slaves in Egypt, but because he'd bitten off a huge head of parsley dipped in salt water and instantly regretted it!
- E and A: the twins that I could never tell apart
- T: for whom the communion host tasted 'EPIC'

- J: who overcame her nerves and blossomed
- A, E and E: stuck together, I suspect, with glue
- M and L: wise beyond their years and with a profound insight of God's forgiveness after we'd enacted the story of the Prodigal Son
- B: a small dynamo of smiles
- G: the most inquisitive person on the planet! (Never stop asking questions, G)
- A: who never said a word but ate lots of lamb at the Passover meal. (Actually, we ALL ate lots of lamb!)
- J: cool, calm and always helpful
- A and G: very self-possessed
- O: quite the politest boy I know who made it his job to detect when I was becoming over emotional when sharing the Gospel
- A: always ready with a smile

Kirsty: calm sanity and peacefulness

Father Hollins: who on appearing towards the end of a session would have the uncanny (some might say infuriating) knack of explaining clearly in 10 words that which I'd been blethering on about unclearly for..... well, for quite some time.

And my only regret? That it's all over, that the conversation has come to an end. However, it will be wonderful to share Holy Communion with them and I pray that they will continue to ask questions and recognise God and His love in their lives.

Sew what?!

On Easter Morning Father Hollins went to his cupboard to choose the best chasuble for the occasion and realised that there wasn't one! The beautiful vestment in gold had now become threadbare and the other white chasubles were not really 'for best'. After making a few enquires, Lesley Redstone was asked if she would consider making one. She agreed and went with Father Hollins to The Fabric House in Lavant Street to choose a suitable material.

Father suggested that it might be appropriate to reflect St Laurence in the design and Joan Mullins offered some sketches. Lesley worked her magic and you can see the result in the photograph. We look forward to seeing Father in his new finery and many thanks to Lesley for this and other handiwork she has worked for St Laurence Church.

Would you take a transplant to save your own life?

by Anne Penn

In January 2010 my sister T got confirmation that she had two incurable lung diseases, namely, organising fibrosing pneumonia and the extremely rare idiopathic pleuroparenchymal fibroelastosis. She was told that, in time, her only option would be a transplant. Now around that time another sister, Sue, was recovering from donating a kidney to a lifelong friend.

Instead of whingeing and wallowing in self-pity, she just thought “Sue, you are amazing - you have just saved someone’s life. Now T, what are you going to do?”

Having spoken to many medical professionals, T (pictured left) was shocked to learn that three people die every day because they are one organ short of life. So upset by this figure, she knew that if she could stop one family from grieving, everything that was to follow for her would be worth it.

And so Save5 was born. T’s first goal was to get an extra 1,000 people signed up on the NHS Organ Donor Register, but once she had surpassed that goal, she knew she couldn’t stop there and her next goal moved up to 10,000 as she realised that lives could be saved. T called it Save5, because one donor could save 5 lives. How amazing would that be?

To raise awareness of the importance of organ donation T would give talks to clubs, business forums and speak at Conferences. She would also have a stand outside supermarkets and at county and village fairs, so that the message of Save5 was brought to as many people as possible.

T learnt very quickly that people are filled with myths and ill facts surrounding organ donation and, right from the beginning, knew it was important that people had the facts, so that then they could decide for themselves if they did want to register or not.

Unfortunately for T, as these are progressive diseases, time is not on her side. She has been placed on the Transplant List but knows the Call might never come in time.

However, determined as ever, she recorded a short video which conveys her message now that she is no longer able to do it. All she asks is that you watch it and then decide. This can be found on her website under Video Appeal - www.save5.org.uk

Since starting Save5 an extra 6,805 people have registered as organ donors. Her goal is 10,000. Will you please help her achieve her final goal? Will you please help her save some lives?

Thank you.

Valerie Mercier (pictured above, left, with Daphne Daniels) now lives near Albi, SW France. In May she returned to St Laurence’s where she was organist for many years. Valerie came back to attend Chris Moore’s funeral but also dropped in to support the Children’s Catechesis Class’s Bring and Buy. Valerie seems just as busy, as she plays the organ in three churches in France on Saturday and Sunday over a 30 mile radius! She certainly looked well on it!

Unity Bookshop

by Rosemary Davies, Manager

A recent article said that bookshops in the UK are in turmoil. This is especially true in the Christian bookshop trade. In 2011 Unity Bookshop was facing the possibility of closure but, thanks to all who have supported us with pledges and donations, the shop is still in business - however, this support still needs to continue so your help is still much needed.

We sell more than Bibles and Christian books. We have a children's room with books for babies to teenagers - an ideal resource for parents, grandparents, teachers and youth workers. Our section dealing with greeting cards covers 24 categories and we stock many types of gifts for all occasions such as CD's, DVD's, pottery, jewellery and candles.

The shop is staffed by a wonderful team of volunteers who agree to work for either a morning or afternoon each week. If you have time to spare, why not consider volunteering? You would be warmly welcomed. Or why not consider being a bookstall volunteer to take books and gifts to St Laurence? We have a new computerized system for checking books out and in,

My Prayer by Kay Smith

When I was asked during 'Siding' one Sunday last Autumn if I would write a prayer for The Dome magazine, I was filled with horror.

My prayers are simple, so who would want to read them? For years there has been so much illness/suffering in my family that I'm always asking God, the Saints, Our Lady of Knock - you name it - for help.

so that organizing a church bookstall involves very little extra effort for you or for us. This is a way of bringing Christian material to your church congregation, some of whom may find it difficult to visit the shop. If you are interested in either of these roles, please contact me at the shop.

We all understand how easy it is to sit at home, browse the internet, press a few buttons and your order is then delivered to your home. If you want to keep a Christian bookshop in Petersfield where you can see the books and gifts, listen to music and chat with fellow Christians, please support Unity Bookshop.

I asked my good friend - not a Catholic, but a Welsh Methodist who prayed far better than I knew how - what I should write. He joked that it would have to be in Welsh. Feeling he was not taking me seriously I got annoyed. He then suggested 'The Lord's Prayer'. As I had about six months to come up with something I thought no more about it for a while.

My good friend passed away in January leaving a big void in my life so I dedicate this prayer to him, my friend, Glyn Jones:

*Our Father Who art in Heaven,
Hallowed be thy name;
Thy Kingdom come*

Ride & Stride

This year's Hampshire & the Islands Historic Churches annual Ride and Stride will mark 25 years of fund-raising towards the upkeep of some 900 historic church buildings including St Laurence Church. Our organiser, Ann Johnstone, will be hoping for our support on Sunday 14th September. There are various ways in which you can get involved:

- cycle, walk, run, drive to visit participating churches
- be a 'meeter and greeter' for part of the day at either of our churches
- sponsor friends or family taking part

Last year Ann Saunders got on her bike and through your generous support raised just over £200. She discovered some hidden delights, met some wonderful people on the way and even managed a spot of golf en route! Most of all, she had fun and you can too. So please put this date in your diaries and help the HIHCT who were so generous to us in giving us £4000 and an interest-free loan of £4000 towards our magnificent new dome.

Note: Nearer the time Ann Johnstone will have leaflets with more details about the day.

Ann Johnstone greets riders and striders outside St Laurence

*Thy will be done
On earth as it is in Heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread;
And forgive us our trespasses
As we forgive those who trespass against us;
And lead us not into temptation
But deliver us from evil.
Amen*

Medjugorje

By John Vincent

A Vatican commission, which has been working in strict secrecy, is studying the shrine at Medjugorje and in particular reports of Marian apparitions which began in 1981. These apparitions continue regularly to this day, according to the shrine's six 'seers', attracting hundreds of thousands of pilgrims each year. Here are the thoughts of one of our parishioners who visited Medjugorje last summer.

Thousands flock from all over the world, from Italy, the United States, Lebanon and even the small Hampshire town of Petersfield in England. The Vincent and Kyjovska families who both attend St Laurence's embarked on this same journey. The message from Medjugorje is peace and reconciliation with God. These messages come from a visionary called Mirjana Dragicevic who has an apparition on the second of each month delivered by the Virgin Mary. Many people crowd around the village streets and the mountains where our Lady appears and wait for the message. Our particular message was:

Dear Children! With motherly love I implore you to give me your hands, permit me to lead you. I, as a mother, desire to save you from restlessness, despair and eternal exile. My Son, by His death on the Cross, showed how much He loves you; He sacrificed Himself for your sake and the sake of your sins. Do not keep rejecting His sacrifice and do not keep renewing His sufferings with your sins. Do not keep shutting the doors of Heaven to yourselves. My children, do not waste time. Nothing is more important than unity in my Son. I will help you because the Heavenly Father is sending me so that, together, we can show the way of grace and salvation to all those who do not know Him. Do not be hard-hearted. Have confidence in me and adore my Son. My children, you cannot be without the shepherds. May they be in your prayers every day. Thank you.

Medjugorje itself sits in the countryside of Bosnia Herzegovina surrounded by beautiful mountain scenery. There are many things to do and see. St James' Church stands in the village centre and has Mass throughout the day in a variety of languages including English. In the evening, just outside the church, one would assume from a distance that a concert was taking place. On the contrary, it is an enormous gathering that makes up an international prayer group. The prayers are announced in many different languages.

All these things, such as prayer groups and Mass in multiple languages, show how strong our faith is, especially as we come together from many different places. Joining together to worship and thank the Lord for all His wonderful gifts gives us a sense of unity. Additional inspiration is given by Our Blessed Lady with her special messages

Disclosure and Barring Service

by Donna Cooper

Disclosure and Barring Service, Once known as CRB Brings a grinding of teeth to many And smoke out of noses and ears.

The forms are long and invasive,
Only a black ball point pen will do;
Training goes hand in hand
For a Volunteer role in the Parish
Under the umbrella of Christianity.

What would Jesus think I wonder?
How would He answer the question?
Why after all these years
Do we need to become so official?

I'm often told that 'they'
Ask for too much information,
But the Church through our Diocese of Portsmouth
Advises all parishes of what is required,
So this is what we must do
Even when they've completed checks
For other things before.

Maybe it's bureaucracy at its worst,
But given some of the problems of the past,
At least by completing the forms we can say
We have done our best.

I've had many a laugh and some grumbles
Over cups of coffee and tea,
Whilst checking the forms before
Sending them off to the Police.

I had one form returned
To be re-completed,
As the applicant in their haste
Had ticked all the boxes 'yes'
To every crime on the list!

But don't let it put you off helping!
The parish needs everyone's time.
Our community working together
Can only grow better and shine.

Indian delights

by Jan Grey

Last autumn we fulfilled a long-planned post-retirement dream to take our battered 1936 Rolls-Royce to India, Nepal and Bangladesh. With help and encouragement from various friends, some old, some made along the way, we travelled 7000 miles returning the car to the same Mumbai dockside six months later - in one piece, without serious dramas, cherishing some extraordinary memories, and rather thinner.

We experienced lots of the usual tourist pleasures, and some unusual ones. I've always been rather confused by the complexity of the Hindu pantheon and their sometimes alarming representations; we went to many temples, sometimes with Hindu friends, sometimes to ceremonies, and could not be unaware of the multitudinous wayside shrines, mendicant devotees, garlanded statues, rocks, trees, cows, of personal devotion and the ubiquity of the spiritual in every day life. As it became more familiar it reminded me of similar elements in Catholicism in southern and eastern Europe, where faith isn't only personal and restrained but public, loud, colourful and everywhere, and sometimes disturbing to our eyes.

The poverty was profoundly and permanently shocking, but there is light to be found in the commitment of many people, sometimes Christian but not exclusively, giving their lives to its alleviation and eradication. Many people who had visited the West believed that being old and friendless, or young and friendless, in a tower block in a blighted urban area in Europe, was far lonelier and harder than the lot of the poor on the subcontinent.

On Christmas morning we went to Mass in rural Assam; the congregation was sparse, and separated by gender, all footwear left at the door despite a winter chill, and the music was amplified to painful levels, until the power mercifully failed. Instead of our seasonal reds, greens and golds there were armfuls of joyful flashing lights, balloons, and ribbons in swathes of fluorescent pinks and yellows. The crib was charmingly arranged in what appeared to be a huge pink egg. Later, over tea in his house, the priest, who had kindly read the lessons in English for our benefit, told us worshippers were few because the packed midnight Mass had been followed by a lengthy parish party and most revellers were still asleep.

That afternoon we saw our first tiger in the wild, which must be the best Christmas gift ever.

We were in Dhaka for the Epiphany. Mass was overflowing with cheerful families, Sisters, poor people and prosperous ones. This year the 6th January fell on a Sunday; Bangladesh is a Muslim country and Sunday is the first day of the working week. Emerging into the colourful, polluted, heaving, heedless city, the day unmarked for the vast majority of the population, was - as on so many other times in our amazing journey - a humbling and up-lifting experience.

A maritime friendship

Jane Manners recounts an unusual friendship which formed between her family and the family of the WWII Italian Pilot who sank the ship of her husband, Sherard Manners, HMS Bedouin (above). Sherard and a further 230 crew members survived the sinking, were picked up by an Italian Red Cross Ship and spent the rest of the war in POW Camps. The Italian Admiral took the credit for this sinking, but Sherard, who had taken a shot at the plane dropping the torpedo, causing it to come down, had witnessed the pilot and crew inflating their life rafts in the water. Jane Manners describes how after the war Martino Aichner, the Italian Pilot, contacted Sherard to verify his tale and so put history straight.

'Long after the war - and after the Italian Admiral's death - Martino wrote a book about his experiences and through the Admiralty he got in touch with Sherard who was the senior surviving officer of HMS Bedouin, hoping he could vouch for the veracity of his story. Sherard was happy to do so. We were invited to Milan for the book launch and met Martino and his wife and family and subsequently our two families became good friends. On the Italian family's visits to West Meon, Father Murtagh's linguistic skills were fully employed translating from Italian to English and vice versa. In due course Martino's Medalio d'Argente was upgraded to Medalio d'Oro, an honour which entitled him to free travel on all European Motorways!'

The New Parish Pastoral Council

Jean Lord, Chair

I am married with two sons and two grandsons. I have lived in Petersfield for over 11 years and have attended St Laurence all that time. I was very impressed with the welcome that I received then and still feel its warmth today. My interests are singing; I sing in the Diocesan choir from time to time and also the Petersfield Choral Society whose main event is the Petersfield Musical Festival each spring. I am a keen homemaker, gardener, cook, and love meeting friends for a chat. My 'thing' is homelessness and I help to teach young people to take care of themselves and their home by taking young people to live with us whilst they learn life skills. I believe that family life is the most important asset anyone can have.

I live in Petersfield with my husband Kevin, and our three daughters. I am a Eucharistic Minister and also co-ordinate the communion rota for visiting the sick and housebound in the Petersfield area. I enjoy cooking, socialising and triathlons, watching them on Channel 4 I mean! I have been on the council for 2 years.

Liz Fry

I am 40 years of age. Originally from Michalovce in Slovakia but have lived in the UK since 2005. I currently live in Petersfield and have been attending services at St Laurence Church for three years. I am a working single mum with three children, Stano, Patrik and my daughter Vanesa who is an Altar Girl. My interests include baking, music (love worship music), books and community projects. Generally my personality is bubbly and I try to have a positive outlook on life.

Maria Kyjovska:

Martin Cupela

I was born in Slovakia. I moved into the Petersfield area in 2002. I am married to Maria and we have a new-born son, Michael. I have been a member of the PPC since 2010. I work as an IT engineer for small businesses and home-users in West Sussex and Hampshire area (see my advert!). My interests include sport (squash, swimming, tennis) and my son, Michael.

I have been married to Paul for almost 48 years. We joined St Laurence Parish in 1997 when we came to live in Steep. We have a daughter and two sons, all married and with families of their own. They have given us eight grandchildren ranging in age from 18 to two years. I am a Eucharistic Minister and I look after the Brass Cleaning rota. I am a Trustee of the Petersfield Counselling Service. I play recreational golf and bridge and enjoy gardening, reading, cinema, theatre, music, knitting, birdwatching, walking and travelling. Paul and I share a love of wild Africa and have been lucky enough to visit several African countries game viewing and birdwatching. I will be eager to do anything in the Parish to promote and foster family life.

Frances Nickell

Ethna Matthews

I have been a member of St Laurence Parish since 1989. I am married to Gary and we have two children. I am currently a member of the newly formed Justice and Peace Group and also help at the children's catechism on Tuesdays. I am a practising Artist and run a variety of groups and activities in the local community and abroad.

I live in Petersfield with my husband Paul and have done for the past 20 years. Our daughters are now grown up but still live with us and attend St Laurence. My interests are running and reading. I love to cook and I write a food blog. I also write short fiction in my spare time. I am a Eucharistic Minister and have been on the PPC for a year.

Wendy Younane

Michael Osborne

I was born in Guildford and moved to Petersfield just over three years ago. I live with my wife Jun. We both normally go to the St Agnes service on Sunday and sometimes to the evening service at St Laurence. I enjoy cooking and going to theatres and musicals. I also enjoy playing and watching tennis and snooker.

To all the people you can,
As long as ever you can.*
